Women and Health Care Reform

A public forum presented by the League of Women Voters Pasadena Area

The forum will address the unique problems women face in obtaining health care because of economic, sociological and biological factors. It will explore what truly “affordable” health care means in terms of family income. Other questions to be discussed concern mandated participation in a state or national insurance system and how to mobilize support for a single-payer plan that benefits women, family and community.

PROGRAM

9:30 Registration

10:00 Speakers

Dr. Susie Baldwin, health assessment chief of Los Angeles County Public Health

Shannon Connolly, California Student-Physicians for Healthcare Reform at the USC School of Medicine

Judy Dugan, Research Director, the Foundation for Taxpayer and Consumer Rights.

“Healthcare in the Balance,” a DVD featuring Dr. Susan Wu and Janice Markham will be shown.
